NON-STOP PAN AMERICAN FLYER ON WAY TO RIO

BIRDMAN FACES PERILOUS TRIP OF 4,600 MILES

Visibility Over Ocean Poor As Ace Hops Off To Brazil

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 25.—The first nonstop Pan-American flight ever attempted was under way tonight, as Paul Redfern shot his monoplane over the ocean wastes of the Atlantic. Redfern took off at 12:46, Eastern standard time, this afternoon, and set nose for the West Indies. Porto Rico, 1,200 miles away, is the first "port of call."

Beyond wind-swept seas and impenetrable jungle masses, the lone flyer hopes to reach his goal—Rio de Janeiro—on a flight that, if attained, will mean new world records for endurance and distance.

RIO BOUND

"God willing, I am going to Rio," said the son of the president of Benedict College, as he waved his hand in farewell. After a first false start the plane was hauled higher on the beach and straightened out. For more than half a mile it taxied down the beach. Then the heavily laden ship rose slowly and with a roar turned seaward—South America bound.

WIFE IN TEARS

To the throng the "ambassador to Brazil" was on his way. But to the sobbing young wife, her husband had gone down to sea and a long and anxious vigil had begun. She had fought back the tears but now that he could not see them, what did it matter if she cried?

VISIBILITY POOR

Visibility was not good over the ocean and the some three thousand spectators strained their eyes as the silvery plane became a speck in the horizon, then disappeared.

Paul Varner, chairman of the flight committee, said Redfern had been given definite instructions. "If you find conditions bad after striking the South American mainland, follow the coast to Parana," Varner told the pilot.

"If moderate conditions prevail and you think it advisable, swing inland and try for Pernambuco. Or if everything is fine and you are still confident you can make Rio, God be with you."

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

MRS. HARRISON WHITE - TO RETURN HOME

Mrs. Harrison I. White, 640 Ninth street, will return to her home next Sunday from the Richmond Maternity hospital, where Clifford Harrison White was born August 11. Dr. E. R. Guinan is the attending physician.

TO MARRY

A marriage license was granted in Oakland to LeRoy E. Howard, 24, and Alice Voss, 20, both of Richmond. An application for a license was made in San Jose by Victor W. Thompson, 28, of Richmond, and Amy L. Williams, 28, of San Jose.

HOW MONEY GROWS

It is really wonderful how interest, added to regular deposits even though they are small, counts up. The attractive interest now paid by Building and Loan Associations, which are under state supervision and as strong and safe as anything can be, offers unusual opportunity to those who want to get ahead. For definite information consult the Buyers Guide on the classified page.

Richmond Exchange Club Officers Put In Office

Henry D. Soito, manager of the Twenty-third street branch of the American Trust Company, was elected president of the Richmond Exchange club at a luncheon meeting held at Hotel Carquinez here yesterday noon. The club being a service organization devoted to the civic and cultural development and welfare of the community.

Dr. Walter Hadley, local dentist, was made secretary of Richmond's newest service group, and W. D. Kruger, local banker, was elected treasurer.

The next meeting of the club, which has been set for next Tuesday noon at Hotel Carquinez, will signalize the gathering together of a group of the younger business and professional men of Richmond.

Frank Bowney presided at the meeting yesterday and the principal speakers were Robert Evans of the Berkeley Exchange Club.

Stanley V. Walton of Oakland, and William Hewitt, district governor of Exchange club in Central California.

In the course of his talk the principal address at the meeting, Governor Hewitt, who is the former president of the Exchange club at Portland, Maine, paid a glowing tribute to the enlightening influence of service clubs in building a higher type of citizenship. In part, he said:

"The acknowledgment of civic responsibility, the acceptance of individual obligation to promote civic betterment and the will to act collectively for a common good are indeed motives high enough to attract all forward looking citizens.

"Cities rise to influence or shrink to insignificance in true proportion to the response its citizens make to civic responsibility." (Continued on Page 5)

Chief Cooper Chairman Of Local Boy Scout District

Fire Chief W. P. Cooper was chosen chairman of the Richmond district, Contra Costa county Boy Scouts at a reorganization meeting held to effect a strengthening of the county-wide institution.

The county has been divided into seven districts, each with a district local organization, to secure greater activity among the scouts and to look out for their welfare. Much of the work that up to now has been more of a burden to the scoutmasters will be lifted from them by this organization.

The Richmond district will include El Cerrito, Richmond, San Pablo and Pinole.

Other officers elected at the reorganization meeting were: L. A. Hewitt was named chairman of the troop organization committee; G. P. Glinberg of the house committee, and Edward Gray, of the court of honor. The assistants to the chairman will be appointed later. George P. Glinberg, Claude E. Clark and R. F. Cox were placed in charge of the scoutmaster training activities.

It was definitely decided at the meeting to establish a placement bureau to find work for boys in the summer months and after school hours. Headquarters will be at the office of Claude Clark.

Miss Florence Gould, children's librarian at the public library, is planning the reorganization of the Treasure Hunter's club, a reading club for boys and girls, which will meet at the library during the winter months.

All boys and girls, ages 11 to 14 years, who care to join the club will meet at the Boys' and Girls' Library promptly at 2 p. m. on Saturday, August 27.

"Miss Doran" Will Be Found Is Belief Of Speaker At Builders Exchange Banquet

"I still believe that the Golden Eagle and the Miss Doran will be found, but Major Edwin is undoubtedly gone," declared Philip C. Salzman, engineer of the Breese Aircraft corporation, who was the speaker of the evening at the Builders Exchange "Aviation Night" monthly social in the exchange hall last night.

He told how the first two planes had been prepared for the flight and equipped, with safety devices to guard against hazards. The Golden Eagle had a detachable motor and air spaces which, when inflated would float the monoplane. The Miss Doran's gasoline tank was designed to float that craft, according to the builders of the plane.

HOP DETAILS TOLD

Salzman gave an interesting account of the preparations made for the flight, going into the details and difficulties of preparing the Aloha, winner of second place, which was built by his company. They were also the builders of the Pabco which was prevented from starting by a crash.

FORD PHONES PRAISED

Following his address, Salzman answered the many questions on aviation asked by the builders. He praised the planes of the Henry Ford company declaring that aviators are beginning to consider "air pockets" as a negligible hazard due to efficiency of the planes and told of trends in development of the industry.

Contrary to general belief, he stated that the air is at its best close to the water and that if he were flying a plane across the ocean he would fly close to the water with occasional lifts above clouds to get bearings from the stars or sun.

"TAIL SPIN" EXPLAINED

He compared a "tail spin" to the whirling of a top about to topple over on the floor and said that if the term were changed to a "spinning dive," it would better explain the condition.

"Tail Spins" he explained were usually caused by a loss of forward speed rather than "air pockets," which depending on the pressure, might force a plane either up or down.

LINDY FILMS SHOWN

The program was designed to carry out the idea of the "high season." There were films of Lindbergh's test flight from San Diego to New York, Commander Byrd's flight over the North Pole and the arrival and preparation of the Norge for its flight from Spitzbergen.

PLANE MODELS EXHIBIT

Models of monoplanes, including the Aloha and Woolacac, winners of the flight, were suspended from the ceiling. Airplane buttons were given as favors. The tables were decorated with vases of flowers and a huge basket of flowers presented with the compliments of Mrs. R. G. Armstrong adorned the speaker's table. The dinner was served by the Cathedral Coffee Shop.

Dennis Shaw's six-piece orchestra furnished the music. Rex Thompson was chairman of the evening. Technicolor films of Java concluded the entertainment. There were more than 100 members and guests present at the dinner.

The committee in charge of the program was composed of: Entertainment—Rex Thompson, Pryce Roberts, E. J. Dollard, A. J. Walters.

Banquet—F. A. Mayfield, G. J. Grierson, H. H. Mylander, Albert Bush.

Decorations—J. J. Burdon, Jr., Albert Fagerstrom, E. B. Bull and N. D. Swartout.

Richmond Youths Now On Orpheum

John Toffoli and Roy Banducci, Richmond boys, will tour the Orpheum circuit, starting next week. Banducci will play a six-piece accordion orchestra, headed by Toffoli, and which will join De La Plaza and his famous dancing partner, Juanita.

They will open at the San Francisco Orpheum tomorrow, where they are billed for the week, after which they will complete a tour of the circuit. Toffoli will be soloist of the band.

He has made a name for himself in some of the well known Fanchon and Marco "Ideas," and has played in Richmond on many occasions. Martinelli, Chicago grand opera tenor, will also be on the bill, as well as De La Plaza, who was with Valentino in "The Four Horsemen." Toffoli has been associated here with his brother at the new service station, Thirty-seventh street and Macdonald avenue.

Two Story Flat To Be Built

S. E. McMahon will erect a two story flat on the west side of Eleventh and Clinton avenue, at a cost of $5,500, according to a building permit issued by City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley yesterday. Mrs. L. S. Combs will erect a one car garage on the west side of Forty-first street, between Potrero and State avenues. D. A. Dodge will do the work.

MRS. WOODCOCK HOSTESS

Mrs. H. A. Woodcock of 533 Tenth street is entertaining her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Buck of Los Angeles, and their son.

Scout Troop Makes Plans

Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts, reviewed its old work in preparation for undertaking an ambitious program for the new term at the first meeting of the organization last night. At the next meeting first aid work will be gone into and the boys in the troop will be instructed in construction of bird house and cabins. Executive Scout Master George P. Glinberg, announces that the Sea Scout Troop, recently organized, will meet on Tuesday of every week. Buddy McCoy has been made troop correspondent for Troop No. 1.

Big Increase Is Shown In State Legion Canvass

An increase of 4,000 members in the American Legion in California was reported last night by Charles W. W. St. John, who was the delegate of the local post of the American Legion to the convention in Santa Barbara a short time ago. The new department commander is Philip Dodson of Pasadena and the District Commander is Philip Pearson of Hayward who spoke to the council last night. Pearson announced that Armistice Day is now a legal holiday in California.

Sod from the graves of veterans buried in the St. Joseph's cemetery in San Pablo and Sunset View Cemetery will be taken to France by Arthur Mayer, the local delegates to the great American Legion convention in Paris in September. Mayer will leave Richmond for France September 3. The local branch of the Legion will go to Pinole to put on the exercise when a new post of the American Legion opens in that city, September 13, Tuesday.

BUDGET ACTION POSTPONED TO MEET TONIGHT

No Item Of Expense Is Seen To Increase The Tax Rate

As the preparation of the budget for the fiscal year 1927-1928 was not completed by the members of the various committees of the city council last night in the council chambers of the city hall the work will be continued at a meeting tonight, according to City Manager James A. McVittie. With the completion of the budget, the tax rate can be set.

City Manager McVittie declared last night that he knew of no unusual item of expense that might materially increase the tax rate for the year.

It is believed no fund will be required this year for maintaining the harbor channel due to the fact that the harbor is being dredged to a depth of 5 feet under the old bond issue. It is hoped that government approval of the new project will be obtained before it is necessary for the city to do any maintenance work.

Voting of the harbor bonds relieved the council of an item of about 30 cents on the tax rate that would have been required for ripraping the harbor walls. The $50,000 provided for this purpose out of the bond issue does away with necessity of taking the money from the general fund. About seven or eight cents will be required to take care of the $50,000 in bonds that will be issued for ripraping.

McVittie said he believed the would be about the same next general governmental expenses year as last, unless members of the council have special appropriations to present. Tax rate last year was $2.13 on each $1000 of assessed valuation. The rate for the previous year was $2.20, the rate having been cut seven cents last year.

MRS. ADA CAIN LAID AT REST

Members of Contra Costa temple, Order of Eastern Star, conducted funeral services in the Wilson and Kratzer chapel yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Ada Elizabeth Cain, who passed away at a local hospital Monday night after an illness of five days.

Mrs. Cain contracted pneumonia while caring for Henry Britten, who died of double pneumonia two days before Mrs. Cain was stricken. Members of the Richmond fire department who worked with her on the case when the department inhalator was required acted as pallbearers. They were: Assistant Chief J. J. Barry, L. E. Lavenue, T. J. Hathaway, A. J. Adolph, W. A. Grady and W. V. Remell.

At the Berkeley crematory services were conducted by the auxiliary to the United Spanish War Veterans. Mrs. Cain is survived by her husband and six children.

Tablet Is Placed By Local War Mothers

Members of the Richmond chapter of War Mothers went to Palo Alto yesterday to place a bronze marker on the memory tree planted by the organization at the veteran's hospital. Mrs. Josephine Washburn, organizer of the local chapter, was present at the ceremonies.

The wards and the new improvements made at the hospital were inspected by the visitors.

Queen!

ROSE KELL, of Newark, N. J., who is spending the summer at Bradley Beach, will reign as queen of the Masque Fete and Mardi Gras at the famous society resort Friday evening, September 2.

TRAPP PETITION GIVEN REFUSAL

Although the application had been "withdrawn," a petition filed by E. W. Trapp, president of Jenny Wren Stores, Inc., for permission to issue $225,000 in debenture notes was denied yesterday by State Corporation Commissioner J. M. Friedlander.

The official decision brought to an end the controversy between Trapp and the Corporation Commission which preceded the revelation of the tangled condition of the chain store system's financial affairs.

Since the application was made the Jenny Wren organization has been placed in control of creditors and S. C. Harrison has succeeded Trapp as general manager.

Friedlander's decision of denial was based on grounds that Trapp had received 39,000 shares of common stock and $500 in cash "for three purported foreign patents; that the financial statement of June 11, 1927, does not reflect the true financial condition of the company; that dividends were paid from capital and that despite claims of profit, the firm was operating on a deficit."

"It does not appear that proposed plan is not unfair, unjust and inequitable," Friedlander concluded in his ruling. Trapp's former salary of $26,000 a year also was a factor in reaching the decision, it was indicated.

The decision will have little effect on the company's plans for the future, as stockholders already have pledged to subscribe to a loan to provide working capital. Trapp is still president and a director, but has little or no voice in the management of the business and is no longer on the payroll.

Growcott Infant Laid At Rest

Private funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon for Ewart John Growcott, day old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Growcott, of 2520 Clinton avenue, from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel. Cremation followed in Berkeley crematory.

The child is survived by his parents, a twin sister, Nancy, a brother, Nelson, 14, and two other sisters, Marion, 12, and Patricia, 14.

MR. McCULLOUGH ILL

Mrs. C. M. McCullough of 720 Ninth street is recovering from a severe attack of grippe, which has confined her to bed for the past several days.

OAKLAND CHILD CRUSHED UNDER TRUCK WHEELS

"Lynch Him," Is Cry As Heavy Vehicle Plows Into Children

A seven-year-old girl was killed and her five-year-old sister probably fatally injured when they were crushed beneath a heavy truck in front of Melrose school, 2452 Second avenue and East Fourteenth street, Oakland, yesterday afternoon. It is alleged that the truck failed to obey traffic signals.

DRIVER MOBBED

The driver of the machine was mobbed. Bystanders threatened to lynch him. He was saved by three police officers who spirited him away from the infuriated crowd.

GIRL KILLED

Bernice Olivera, 7, 1500 Twenty-eighth avenue, was instantly killed. Her five-year-old sister, Lida, received a fracture of the skull and internal injuries. She was reported as in a dying condition at the Oakland Emergency hospital late yesterday.

The driver of the truck was Gerald Shaughnessy, 42, 114 Randolph street, San Francisco. He is charged with manslaughter.

TRUCK JUGGERNAUT

The tragedy occurred when the children were leaving school at the close of the day's work. Police Officer Robert Mann was stationed at the crossing to regulate traffic. According to witnesses, he gave the signal for vehicular traffic to stop. All of the machines obeyed the order except the truck driven by Shaughnessy.

Plowing through the crowd of children, it smashed over the two little Olivera girls. Screams of the other frightened children attracted passers-by, who swarmed toward the truck with cries of "lynch him."

PROTECT DRIVER

Officer Mann pressed several of the bystanders into service to assist in extricating the children from beneath the truck. He then called for help to protect the driver.

Motorcycle Officer D. W. Luster and Officer P. A. Pierce responded and Shaughnessy was hurriedly placed into a commandeered automobile and started for the East End police station.

CROWD PROTESTS

The crowd followed the machine as it moved in automobiles. The mob made such a demonstration in front of the police station that Captain T. Brown placed the man (Continued on Page 8.)

JIST AND JEST!

(By Universal Service)
RED BANK, N. J., Aug. 25.—On the first Sunday of every month Felix Della Viochia has announced anybody in Red Bank who wants to go to church before 11 o'clock in the morning can do so in one of his four taxicabs for nothing. The would-be churchgoer has only to telephone Felix and one of the cabs will call at his door for him. Felix says it's not philanthropy. It's just a hunch. He wants to get the churchgoers accustomed to taking taxicabs every Sunday of the year.

SMYRNA, Aug. 25.—A 70-year-old son of the mail, Salih Baba, has just celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage with 90-year-old Aiche Hanem by strangling her with his bare hands. When arrested the old peasant readily confessed to the crime, explaining: "She never said anything mean to me for fifty years, then in the fiftieth year she called me a donkey and a son of a donkey, and so I strangled her."

PRESIDENT'S IDEA OF DUTY

On January 25, 1920, when Calvin Coolidge, then governor of Massachusetts, was being discussed for the presidency, he issued a statement as to the obligations of public office and the rights of the people to select their officials. It is worthy of reprinting at this time. In that statement he said:

"The times require of men charged with public responsibility, a singleness of purpose. The curse of the present is the almost universal grasping of power in high places and in low to the exclusion of the discharge of obligations. It is always well for men to walk humbly.

"I have never said I would become a candidate for president. I have never accepted, unless by silence, efforts made by statesmen of more than national reputation to present my name to the convention. I have made it plain I could not seek this office.

"I have taken no position from which I need to withdraw. I do not wish to embarrass anyone. I have a great desire to walk humbly and discharge my obligations. The people are entitled to know that their office is to be administered not for my benefit, and that I am not placing myself in any position where any other object would be inferred. There must be no imputation, however unfounded, that I permit their office to be used anywhere for manipulative purposes."

THE LEGION WINS

Leave it to the American Legion to conquer France as it once helped France conquer her enemies.

The vanguard of the Yanks has arrived in Paris.

Already the papers are filled with cabled accounts of how the husky Sammies are captivating the hearts of the fair Parisiennes.

Instead of being greeted by barrages of high explosives and gas shells, they have gone over the top amid the drumfire of kisses.

The world will have to believe now that nothing CAN stop our boys.

The good old days were when you could get a cook to stay by marrying her.

The rising generation ought to patronize aviation schools.

In contemplating what he has done for others the average man is apt to overlook what others have done for him.

It is estimated that the thirst of American tourists will go a long way toward paying Ontario's tax this year. But here is one tax you don't have to help pay if you don't want to.

How To Earn Money!

Please name a few things a girl can do part time.

RAY S.
She could demonstrate a food specialty, carry water in a theatre, teach English to foreigners, write short stories if she has the gift, take in a little sewing or take care of a child for a few hours a day to relieve its mother.

JILL
I want to go in the tea room business. I have been a waitress for a short time. Do you think I can make any money in that way?

You will make money in that line if you know how and where to buy. It is not only the pretty fabrics that must be looked after. It is good food, bought cheaply at wholesale prices, that counts.

I am 75 years old and have no one depending on me. My funds are getting low. I love children. Do you think that any one will employ a woman as old as I to help look after their children? I understand nursing.

MRS. W.
You certainly are not too old to be a domestic nurse. Many mothers prefer older women to look after their children and all doctors employ such nurses. You can easily get such employment by inserting an ad in one of the daily papers.

I am doing some typewriting at home for a friend. She wishes to pay me and I really need the money. What do you consider a fair charge for home typing?

RUTH Y.
The usual charge for home typing is from 10c to 15c a sheet for double space work. This includes one extra carbon copy besides the original.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

AUGUST 25

Ernest Stanton, one of the most popular variety artists in the country, came into the world on August 25, when the Sun was shining from Leo to Virgo and the Moon was in Scorpio, just about to rise into Sagittarius. He is therefore quite a complex personality, as evidenced in many directions. He possesses much of the magnetic charm of Scorpio, but has also the directness and loyalty of Sagittarius. With the enthusiastic and usually joyful temperament of Leo, though, he is often subject to fits of depression—he complains the wish to excel that both Leo and Virgo give and the attention to detail that both Leo and Scorpio give. The popularity of both, Ernie and Val Stanton is well founded, for it is built on character as well as artistic achievement.

One of the principal characteristics of Virgo is the interest in detail. Most Virgians are hard workers and conscientious, almost to a fault; they overwork themselves perhaps more than any other type. It is well for them that Virgo gives a splendid constitution and an interest in right living and the preservation of physical and mental health.

"The first thing I saw was a big, black grizzly bear. I raised my rifle and fired—not a moment too soon. When the smoke cleared I warily crept up to him, but he was dead."

I triumphantly concluded a dramatic explanation of a hunting trip to a large number of my friends. My nephew, a young lad who had been sitting in the corner absorbing each word, eagerly questioned: "How long had he been dead, Uncle Tom?"

What Your FACE TELLS

©c. 1927- by Betty Morrison PSYD.

Observe this head and brain development is almost as round as a ball. This is the fellow known and loved as the daredevil. Where would the circus be without him? What would happen to the race-track and the Channel swimming? And as for the air without this roundheaded, fearless daredevil to climb into the plane, there wouldn't be any such thing as flying.

He is the ace, the man storming the skies, flying from cloud to cloud, as the awe-struck people watch him from the streets, while he hangs from a cornice or takes a nose dive. He is the natural born tight rope walker, diver, jockey and steeple jack. He is the human fly that scales the city skyscrapers.

He loves attention. He thrives on it. Admiration spurs him on to success. He plays a game with life and death, accepting tremendous odds boldly, foolishly. He barter everything for a shilling. For a cap and bells he risks the issues of life.

The round head is excitable and does not stop to think, but plunges ahead acting on the impulse, never waiting to reckon the consequences. His nature calls for excitement, change, variety and more speed. He is the typical fool who "rushes in where angels fear to tread" largely governed by his feelings. He lacks prudence and often suffers from his mistakes and difficult situations.

Bravery, fool-hardiness, is his stock in trade, and it carries him far, for many folks are hampered by fears and worry themselves into unfortunate conditions, while this man wears the armor of the brave.

Confidence in his own powers brings him success. The egotism of the roundhead often leads him to the stage.

The roundhead does not aspire to business, he finds it to dull and monotonous. Because of his extreme desire for speed, change and variety he is not dependable as a companion, partner or as a husband.

The roundhead should always work where there is variety and excitement. Tomorrow the thin, nervous type of woman.

The Highly Polished Nail Is Going Out Of Style!

By LADY BEATRICE GREY

In this day and age of manliness, it seems absolutely unnecessary to talk about beauty of finger nails, but in spite of that, here are a few things about them that really need to be discussed.

Fiction writers have talked so much about her long perfectly kept nails that we take it for granted that a person who is a person takes care of her finger tips and has the key to her general attractiveness right there.

And many a girl trots to some beauty parlor regularly and has a manicurist take care of her nails, thinking that she is doing all that is necessary.

But trusting a manicurist implicitly isn't enough.

You ought to know what it is all about, and you ought to be able to give your nails the proper care in between manicures.

Too many professional manicurists believe in painting the nails entirely too much. Their idea of a beautiful finger nail is one that is polished to a high degree of pinkness, so glossy that one can almost see one's face in the mirror-like surface. In order to gain this end, she puts a liquid polish on, and it stays there, more or less, until the nail grows out.

But did you ever see one of these liquid polishes? Did you ever notice how funny finger nails look when they are half natural and half polished?

That half moon which the girl so carefully painted in is now half way up the nail, leaving a space of natural nail between it and the real half moon. The bright pinkness looks like cake frosting besides the real pink of the nail.

Fortunately, this high polish is going out of style. Gradually women are beginning to realize that to be really beautiful they should use their own natural beauty to the fullest extent, rather than try to improve it.

Nails which are really healthy and kept in good condition can be kept shining enough simply by rubbing them with a chamomile buffer, and perhaps a touch of colorless dry polish.

But the polish is the least of all the care of the nails. The greatest thing to watch is to see that the cuticle is kept back. This takes time. It does no good to have it clipped away, because this only makes it all the more ragged and leads to hangnails. What you must do to have your nails perfect is each night before you go to bed to soak them in water, and then, with a soft orange stick gently press the cuticle back in place again. After a while it will catch on to the idea that it is supposed to be back and will stay there.

This will give the white half moon, which can almost always be found under neglected cuticle a chance to come out and add its piquancy to your nails.

Of course, I ought not to have to say anything about keeping the nails clean, but most of us are doing some sort of work, whether it be housework or typing, or keeping the garden growing, and we are so apt to forget that dirt collects under the finger nails.

And when you are cleaning your nails, remember that the inside of the nail is very delicate, so use your soft orange stick, together with a nail brush and plenty of soap and water.

A sharp instrument like a nail file, only irritates the skin and roughens the nail, giving the dirt a wonderful place to cling.

And instead of cutting your nails, file them gently into a naturally rounded curve, don't try to be Chinese and have long, pointed nails.

The Smartest Thing My Dog Ever Did

As part of my business I am in the habit of writing a large number of letters every evening and depositing them in the mail box at the corner in time to catch the last collection at 11.

On this trip my fox terrier Molly invariably accompanies me. It is one of the big events of her daily life. Throughout the evening she usually watches me write, sign, fold and seal letters without so much as a grunt.

One evening recently I was writing as usual when suddenly she who had been sitting at the window watching the street below, started a tremendous rumpus. She ran between me and the window barking furiously.

I got up from my desk to see why Molly was so excited. Our friend, the postman was just passing.

My watch had stopped, and but for Molly's unfailing dog sense my letters would not have reached the post office that night and a serious crimp might have resulted in my business.

Richard Sylvester.

Of course, your dog does smart things. Tell the "Dog Editor."

When a Man Loves

By ALLIE LOWE MILES

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

John Barrymore in "WHEN A MAN LOVES" is a Warner Bros. Picture.

Manon was more terrified to see her safety than for her own well-being. She newly found love had completely shut out her former selfishness. It did not matter now, what happened to her as long as Fabien was safe.

Sobbing—half hysterical—she struggled to leave the cabin. She wanted to follow the Captain and plead for Fabien. The old seaman had been so splendid to her that she did not realize how utterly hopeless any appeal would be since he had learned of their deceitfulness. No sacrifice that she could make would soften him enough to have Fabien removed from the hold of the ship. But Manon did not know this—she was sure the Captain would do as she wished and she fought madly to get by Synnelet who laughed and smiled in anticipated satisfaction and barred her way.

Manon's tiny fists beat hopelessly upon his chest but he only smiled in delight. He was much pleased with Manon and her fiery temper amused him greatly. Certainly it was an indication that his conquest would not be an easy one. However, that only added zest to his purpose. She was his property—there would be no opposition and he could take his time about taming her into sweet submission.

The Governor was well pleased with the situation. Before leaving the cabin he paused a moment and looked back at Manon as she struggled against Synnelet's advances; but he only smiled indulgently, shrugged his shoulders nonchalantly and walked away without interfering. It was no longer his affair. He had done his part, besides was he not young once, himself, and the hot blood of youth must be served.

Wildly and more fiercely Manon continued her struggle to escape from Synnelet, but with each effort her strength weakened. Her gown was torn and her gorgeous golden curls, sadly disheveled, were spread about her half naked shoulders like a golden halo of sunshine.

The nearness of Manon had aroused a passion within Synnelet that was fast getting beyond his desire to control. He had played with his beautiful new toy just as long as he could. Suddenly he seized her, brushed aside her arms and crushing her to him, kissed her madly.

Vainly Manon worked to free herself. Synnelet's burning kisses covered her neck and shoulders. His hard labored breathing fairly smothered her as she strove to turn her head away so that he could not find her lips. Then she felt herself lifted, bodily, in his hateful arms and carried across the cabin. Vaguely she sensed the easing of her body upon the couch and saw Synnelet's face strangely grotesque and as he leaned over her. Through a mist of tears his countenance seemed to become more and more indistinct. Shortly it disappeared entirely and Manon knew no more. She had fainted.

With the return of consciousness, Fabien sat up. His clothes were torn and his face and hands were covered with blood. He had not been stunned for very long because overhead he saw the sailors securely battening down the hatch cover through which he had been dropped.

It was a dark, gloomy hold into which he had been thrown, literally stinking with sweat and filth. Above the dim rays of a ship's lantern sent down a faint light that enabled him to discern the convicts, scores of them, chained like animals to stanchions in the ship's beams.

They stared at him curiously. His sudden advent in their midst had aroused them, for a moment, from their apathy of despair into which days of confinement in their foul quarters had cast them. One or two of the men laughed—meaningless laughs inspired by cruel minds.

Still in a half daze Fabien gazed around and became conscious of their curiosity, their mocking voices and the clang of their chains. It all tended to bring back a swift remembrance of his fate. Like a madman he lurched to his feet and climbed up the iron grating to the locked hatch above where he pounded, vainly. It was useless. His bruised hands were but puny instruments for the giant task. Even his shoulders pressed with all his strength failed to make any impression. It was hopeless. He was unequal to the task. With a groan of despair he descended into the hold, fell back on the floor and buried his head in his hands.

"An army of pretty women" is a statement that just misses being an actual fact in "Lost at the Front," a hilarious war comedy of an entirely new sort that will feature the entertainment bill at the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow.

It misses because a few of the women in the feminine army used in the picture are plump. A few are grotesquely angular. But the majority who appear in scenes in which the famous Russian Battalion of 1914 figure, are full-figured.

"Lost at the Front" directed by Ted Ford, costars George Sidney and Charlie Murray, with Natalie Kingston, First National lead, and Wampus Baby Star for 1927, as its co-starring feminine attraction. The principal locale of the story, which Frank Griffin wrote, is the Russian front during the World War.

Murray, who has all his previous comedy records as an Irish policeman who gets tangled up in the Russian army, George Sidney, of "Fetich" and "Perilous" stage fame, also outdoes himself as Murray's comedy teammate, in the role of a German reservist called to the front.

In riotous action that includes the Battalion of Death, however, Sidney and Murray "die" under various flags, and even submit to examination as candidates for the feminine Battalion. Miss Kingston appears as Olga, a sculptress. Other film features include "Be Your Age," a roving comedy; and Felix in "Sax Appeal."

"THE BRONCHO TWISTER" NOW AT CALIFORNIA

An elaborate Spanish fete with a beauty contest in a setting that pictures old Spain is one of the striking sequences in "The Broncho Twister," Fox Film's latest drama, starring Tom Mix, which comes to the California Theatre for two days starting today.

The fete was staged in the patio of the Ortega mansion, one of the purest types of Spanish architecture in Los Angeles. Two hundred actors and actresses in Spanish dress, correct to the smallest detail, were in the scene when Mix in the role of a deputy sheriff breaks into the fiesta to arrest Black Jack Brady.

Brady is in custody at the point of the deputy sheriff's gun when the step daughter descends the stairway, sees the situation, grabs a dagger from a mural decoration and give her step-father a chance to turn his kang loose. Tom outwits them and escapes after the daughter is recognized him as the man whom she had informally met on a train. She realizes that Brady has mistreated her mother, so her sympathies are with Tom. He gives her just as a huge charge of powder blows up a tower and kills her step-father's desperados.

Helene Costello has the role of the beautiful Spanish girl, Paul Nicholson plays Brady and Boris Livov is his wife, O. D. Dull directed the play.

Other features include "Hoboken To Hollywood," a Mack Sennett comedy; "Ko Ko Makes 'Em Laugh"; and International News.

What is news, anyway?

That depends a good deal on you. If you're one type of person, news is divorces, and murders, and heir-to-millions-hangs-self. If you're another type, news is closing quotations on the stock exchange. If you're somebody else, news is final scores at the ball-field or race-track.

But no matter what type of person you are, news is also information about the things you need and use in your every-day life. If there's a new style in coats or shoes or gloves—that's news. If there's a new type of vacuum cleaner or radio battery or vitamin—that's news. If there are improvements in automobiles, new records for the player piano, a better tooth-paste—that's news.

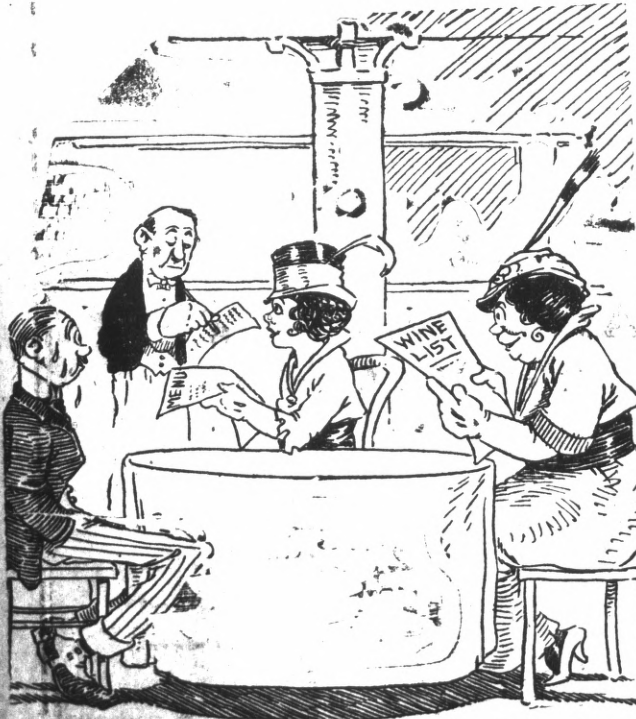

You get all this news in the shape of advertisements. It's pretty important, advertising it. It keeps you informed about all kinds of things you need to know. It helps you. It saves you time and mistakes.

20 Century Old Relics Of Roman Civilization Found Under Bank Of England

LONDON, August 25.—The Bank of England, strong box of the Empire now stands on the site where almost 2000 years ago the people of the Roman Empire stored their valuables.

With the rebuilding of the Bank of England, which is now going on, new excavations have been made far below the walls of the ancient buildings. The "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" is to assume an entirely different outward aspect to the world, but the inside structure is also being remodelled.

Interesting relics of 1800 years ago, linked the London of today with that of centuries past, were discovered during the excavations. When the blackish soil, twenty feet below the ground level had been turned up, small red objects were visible. After the workmen had rubbed off the dirt, these objects became fragments of little cups, plates and bowls of Samian ware, manufactured 1800 years ago in Gaul and South Germany, and shipped to Roman galleys.

Stamped on the base of the cups are the names of the makers, showing that they were the popular table ware of that period. Many of them are decorated with spirited hunting scenes or situations which in these days would be considered highly improper.

Leather objects, unearthed, were found to be in almost perfect condition and Roman sandals could, after being oiled and cleaned, be used for walking again in the streets of London, retaining their suppleness and elasticity nearly 2000 years.

A child's sandal, perfectly preserved, with the metal nail bosses on the sole, still strong and firm in the leather was found. Undoubtedly this small sandal, fitting comfortably on a child of the Roman ages, explored the quays of London when the foreign ships came in.

Probably glittering restlessly over the cobbles of London when anything was to be seen, such as a general riding to the north of England with a new legion, a state procession, or the unveiling of a statue to Caesar.

Worth more than two centuries of spectacle, professors, pointing over books and tracing the line of civilization, would be this little sandal, if it could relate the magnificent story of the every day happenings in Roman London 1,800 years ago.

Bone hair-pins with which the Roman maidens secured their hair among the relics discovered.

Quits Movie

MISS NAZIMOVA, just back from Rome (above) has announced she is through with movies. She will confine talent to legitimate stage, she says.

Little vinegar dishes, set collars and a carpenter's folding rule, marked off its digits, were also among the relics discovered.

Persia Cuts Salary Of Officials

TEHERAN, August 25.—Government officials must marry or pay taxes, an act just passed by the Persian Majlis lays down, authorizing a reduction of 10 per cent in the salaries of all unmarried government officials.

The Public Health department is to receive the price of single blessedness, which is to aim at an increase in the population and a decrease in the social diseases. Doubling Thomases say that the majority of the officials would rather pay than marry if only because the upkeep of a family would amount to more than the new tax.

"Service Clubs may and ought to be the crystallizing agencies of public thought in such public duties. They are the planters of the seed of co-operation whose fruit is the advancement and success of civic life.

"Yet, deeper than this valued material service which peculiarly pressed on Exchange because of its purposes, there is that growing desirable result which lies in the human element whose richness is folded in the program of fellowship.

"Succeeding the old form of convivial association that created so many rich and enduring friendships in business comes the new and rich day of ethical vision and esteem rooted in mutual respect and common service."

Only a portion of the site has been excavated, and the most interesting discoveries are expected during the next twelve months. Although London was a Roman city for 400 years the discoveries are all objects dating from the first to the middle of the second century.

War Hero Enters Toronto Race

HAVING WON the croix de guerre and two citations in France for rescuing two French sergeants under shell fire, the French-Canadian victory medal, the British campaign medal, the American Legion Veteran of Foreign Wars medal and a personal recommendation from Field Marshal Allenby in command of the British Expeditionary Forces in Egypt, William P. Cohen, who claims Paterson, N. J., as his home town, has decided to try and win such a trifling thing as the Wrigley Marathon Swim at Toronto, Canada, on Wednesday, August 31. Cohen, in search of a trainer, by chance alluded to his war record, which, upon investigation, proved to be one of the finest on record. Having made several long-distance swims in the Mediterranean Sea while serving with the British, Cohen believes he can give a good account of himself in the Canada National Exhibition swim at Toronto.

Girl, 21, Is Chess Marvel Defeats World's Masters

LONDON, August 25.—Onward sweeps the wave of youthful champions through the realms of golf, tennis, movies and trans-Atlantic aerial flip-flops, and now the majesty and dignity of chess bows to the imperial sway of a winsome lass just twenty-one years old.

Miss Vera Menchik became the world's first chess champion after strenuous competition at the international play which closed here recently. She won her first game of chess at Moscow when she was only nine years old, but she has lived in Hastings, England, for the last six years. Her mother is English and her father Czechoslovakian, but Miss Menchik spent the earlier years of her life in Russia.

Commenting on her early attempts in the realm of chess, Miss Menchik said:

"Papa plays chess well and taught me much, but he is not a champion. My first big chess I played at the open tournaments at Hastings. In this tournament just finished I was confident of doing well, but I was not so sure I would become champion. I am very glad.

"I was in Russia at the time of the revolution, but I do not want to say very much about it. Like many more, we had unpleasant times. Papa owned a mill there. He no longer has it. I do not live and dream chess. That would be too fixed. It is a nice to turn to tennis, and I spend a lot of time modeling with clay."

Miss Menchik's chess instructor at Hastings was Maroczy, the Hungarian master.

"China" Program Is Held By Macdonald Missionary Society

One of the finest meetings ever held by the Macdonald Missionary Society was enjoyed yesterday afternoon, on the occasion of the presentation of a special program the keynote of which was "China" under the charge of Mrs. P. Drumme.

Miss Nellie Douglas told of a recent visit to the land of 400,000,000 and in particular described the city of Shanghai where she inspected the mission compound and learned of the work of the Presbyterian church in the field. Miss Rosamond Hale of Forsyth Memorial school in Los Angeles conducted for Mexicans told of the work being done in the institution. She is returning to the school after a vacation spent in Iowa.

Reports on the Presbytery meeting held recently in San Francisco were given by several of the members.

The devotion was led by Miss Thelma Wagner. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. J. H. Long, Mrs. A. H. Douze, Mrs. C. J. Lambrecht, and Mrs. W. W. Norton.

Under their direction delicious refreshments were served at attractively decorated tables.

Mrs. Carl Alexander, president, presided at the session.

"With my collapsible rifle, which also shoots .410 calibre shotgun shells, I can bring down enough small game to satisfy my needs for quite a period and I also understand that the tropical fruits and vegetables abound throughout the territory. Therefore, unless I come down before passing into the interior of South America, don't lose hope of my return for at least six months or more."

WHY I BLUSHED

I was dining frugally at the Automat, when a man carrying a heavy laden tray sat down beside me. He had hardly begun to eat when he glanced at his watch, reached for his hat and hurriedly departed in the direction of the door.

I waited a few moments and then slipped in his place and finished his meal. I noticed suddenly that people were giggling, and on looking up I saw this man and a lady with him.

He had merely gone to meet her at the door and had waited a few minutes for her. The meal, by the way, was calculated for two. I did not even have the money with me to reimburse him.

Ruth White Close Second To Bunny Fergus For Championship

RICHMOND GIRL DIVER LOSES IN CLOSE CONTEST

Bunny Fergus of the Neptune club retained the senior women's diving championship of the Pacific coast last night at the Richmond Natatorium, Ruth White of Richmond being rated a close second. One of the judges even gave Miss White the higher score.

In the Junior women's event, the 100 yard freestyle, Lois Grew of Crockett won in the finals with the fast time of one minute eleven and four-fifths seconds. Irma Hummel of the Fleishhacker club of San Francisco, was second, and Frances Perricone of Richmond, third.

Eddie Kokomi of Honolulu gave an exhibition of freestyle swimming and the Kailua club of Honolulu demonstrated the backstroke. Helen Zabriske of the Fleishhacker club gave an exhibition.

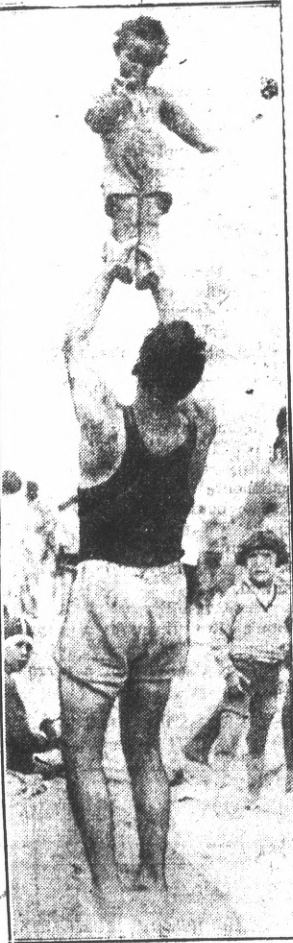

SUMMARY

Diving won by Bunny Fergus of Neptune, second Ruth White of Richmond.

Junior women's 100 yard free style, first heat, won by Lois Grew, Crockett, second Irma Hummel, Fleishhacker. Second heat won by Frances Perricone, Richmond, second Bunny Fergus, Neptune. Finals, won by Lois Grew, Crockett, second and third, Irma Hummel, Fleishhacker, and Frances Perricone, Richmond. Time 1:11 4-5.

WHY I BLUSHED

The other evening I went down to a carnival that was being held in the city in which I live. Standing near the carousel, I saw a figure about to jump over the fence and on to the amusement field. It seemed to be that of a small boy.

Quickly I ran over to him and tapped him on the back and said, "Sonny, be careful or you will hurt yourself!"

To my surprise a midjet turned around, smoking a cigar, and stared me directly in the eyes.

QUICK, WATSON, THE NEEDLE!

State Fish Law Upheld By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO, August 25.—The California salmon law was held constitutional by Superior Judge Edward J. Butler of Marin county in the case in which the law was being attacked by the salmon fishermen of San Francisco Bay. The law states that the season closes on August 16th in District 19, which includes the state waters within the three mile limit from Point Santa Cruz to the south line of Mendocino Co.

In this district it is illegal to have fresh salmon in possession during the closed season. There is an exception in the law which allows the possession in any closed district of salmon imported from Oregon or Washington or from any other fish and game district where the season is open. The fishermen contended that this exception allowed them to go outside the three mile limit catch fish and bring them into the closed territory.

The fishermen were represented in court by Carl Westfeldt, former commissioner and executive officer of the Fish and Game Commission, but Judge Butler gave it as his opinion that the legislature evidently did not want salmon to be brought in from outside the three mile limit, even though it permitted salmon to be imported from our two sister states. This conclusion followed the argument of B. Marx Greene, attorney for the Division of Fish and Game, that it was just as hard on the salmon to allow them to be caught outside the boundary of District 19 as it would be to allow them to be taken in that closed district.

The closed seasons on the outside salmon fishing districts come at a time when fishermen catch too great a proportion of immature fish and thus cause a great waste.

It is the contention of the

Being furnished information that this "so called sportsman" was likely to violate the deer laws, Benson watched his camp for three days and then out gamed the hunter when he came into camp with a fawn on his horse, followed by a woman carrying a doe on her saddle.

The violator realizing his plight leveled his gun at Benson, but the deputy ordered him to drop the gun and placed him under arrest. Despite the fact that he had slaughtered two pitifully small, illegal deer and doe, the violator did have decency enough to absolve the woman from blame and entered a plea of guilty.

In Benson's report he explains that he had to force this hunter to recover the carcasses of the fawn where he had tossed it down in a gulch after being apprehended and had also to revive the female member of the party who promptly tumbled off her horse in a faint when the deputy leveled his gun and stated his purpose, as the pair came in camp.

A photograph of the three deer taken by Benson and filed with his report, shows the deer to be little larger than dogs. The good work of Benson and the prompt action of the judge should prove to have a wholesome effect on violators, said Hunter.

NINE WARSHIPS PAY S. F. CALL

Out of the midst of the gate there resolves a huge gray shape, from a blank nowhere.

A minute later another pokes its greyhound nose through the melancholy curtain; then another, and another.

Like figures emerging out of a photographic negative they assume definite form until at last, in the thinner haze of man of war row, nine great dreadnaughts of the American battle fleet clang their chained anchors down to the mud—and nearly 12,000 men are back in San Francisco.

Thus did the "heavyweights" of the battle fleet creep into the harbor yesterday from Puget Sound. First came the California, flagship of Admiral R. H. Jackson, commander in chief of the fleet. As it dropped its hook, uniformed seamen lined its deck and a band sent the marching tread of the "Star Spangled Banner" out over the bay.

Then as the Maryland passed and dipped its salute to the four-starred flag on the California's main truck, its bands too, struck up the national anthem, to be answered in kind by the flag-ship. Each time one of the great hulks shoved into position the air was exchanged.

And with little formality nine battleships began an eight days' social call on the city that they all like to consider their home port.

Police Pup Gets Footlight Fame

"Midnight," the histrionic police puppy or Fireman Bill Willett, will be featured on several programs in the future.

He performed last night for the inmates of the veterans' hospital at Laverne and will appear on the program for the dedication of the social hall of Trinity Episcopal church in the West Side, September 12. "Midnight" will appear before the Berkeley council, Knights of Columbus.

Author Of The "Gin Marriage" Law Is Local Visitor

Assemblyman George W. Rochester, of Los Angeles, author of the California "gin marriage" law which recently went into effect, visited in Richmond yesterday with attorney Thomas M. Carlson, formerly assemblyman from this district.

Assemblyman Rochester was the first in Los Angeles to apply for a marriage license under the new law. With his bride of four days he is stopping in Oakland. The term "Gin Marriage" was applied to the law because it was held that the three-day notice of intention to marry would prevent hasty marriages of intoxicated couples.

Richmond Men To Be Sentenced On Rum Charge

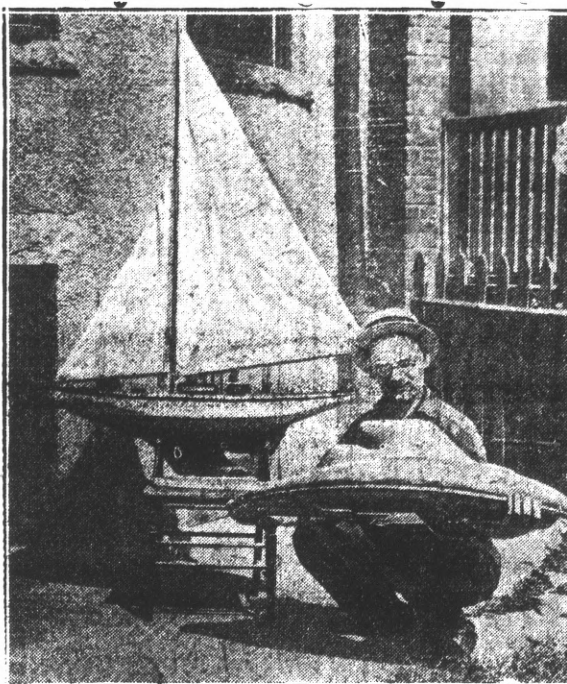

Charles W. Shade and Harry Stock, both of 1704 Potrero avenue, will appear for sentence before Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning. They were arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Authorities who conducted a raid on the residence declared that they found a quantity of liquor in pint flasks.

Shade shouldered the blame when he appeared before Judge Odell yesterday and pleaded guilty. Stock pleaded not guilty to the charge.

KFWM to Broadcast Richmond Over Air

A program for the evening of September 22, over Radio KFWM of Oakland, is being arranged by the publicity committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. The local chamber accepted the offer of the radio station to give Richmond an hour and one-half on the program. The musical features of the program have already been completed, according to the committee.

In a patrol wagon escorted by half a dozen officers and transferred him to the central station.

Another crowd followed the ambulances carrying the children to the hospital. Mrs. Adelaide Oliveira, mother of the girls, became hysterical and fainted at the hospital.

Shangnessy told the police that his brakes were defective, and the officer did not give the signal until he had passed the line. Other drivers denied this statement. They pointed out that his was the only machine that failed to stop at the police order. Shangnessy is a driver for the Stewart Oxygen Company, 215 Bay street, San Francisco.

Pastor Welcomed By Members Of 1st Christian

More than 200 members of the First Christian church were present at a reception held last night in the church parlors to welcome Rev. and Mrs. Aldis L. Webb. Rev. Webb is the pastor of the church succeeding Rev. Frank A. Woten.

A program was arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. Vance Yager. Aubrey Wilson was chairman of the evening and introduced the new pastor to his flock. Piano selections by Miss Evelyn Herbrandt; vocal solos by Bert Seoble and Miss Helen Moorehouse; violin selections by H. Mansfield and steel guitar numbers by Mrs. Carson Wright composed the program for the entertainment. Mrs. George Clark was accompanist.

Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. J. E. Zumwalt. Mrs. F. Moore was chairman of the decorations committee and Mrs. L. Tenshaw was chairman of the reception committee.

Levine Sent Atlantic Plane Into Nose Dive: Chamberlin

(By Universal Service) OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 25.—Charles Levine attempted to pilot the plane Columbia while flying over Germany, but turned it into a nose dive and Clarence Chamberlin managed to right it only after they had fallen 15,000 feet.

This was revealed here today for the first time by Chamberlin, who also told of the arguments he had with Levine, backer of the Bellanca plane.

Chamberlin verified the reports that he and Levine have definitely broken off business relations.

"I was much irritated by the actions and many of the moves which Levine made," Chamberlin said, "but I was so anxious to make the trip that I waited until we reached Germany before starting the fight."

"Once on the other side I told Levine that he and I could never hit it up and it would be best that we part."

"The public misunderstanding Levine, as he means well and has Richmond realtors.

more nerve than he is given credit for.

"Not once on our trip did he show signs of fear."

"Once over the ocean I let Levine pilot the plane. We were flying twenty thousand feet up when I turned the stick over to him. Twenty minutes later we were in a nose dive and it was only a miracle that I was able to slip back into the control pit and right the plane."

"I blame Levine for our failure to be the first to span the Atlantic from New York because while he was quarreling about the pilots Lindbergh stole a march on us and flew to Paris."
